Special Interest Hotline Sublists

As a market leader, IBC takes pride in their ability to identify emerging topic areas for both their conferences as well as list categories that are available for rent. These HOTLINE lists contain the top researchers, scientists, technology developers, end users and management in academia and commercial settings with qualified interest in these growth areas. As new technologies are developed and applied, IBC Life Science events are a guiding force in the industry, bringing together the movers and shakers. Packaged and priced separately from the main database, these lists can be bought alone or combination with other selects from this IBC list.
